

Subj: poem
Date: 9/23/2003 3:14:39 PM Central Daylight Time
From: Manolete XXX
To: Megan4Mischief

"Ridin' the Range"

noxious poem
by Neepatsch Cootie

The cowboy flexed his legs releasing little songbird eggs which went rolling down into the Cooking School in town.
and as eggs came rolling in the door the students were wanting more so, the cowboys came storming in looking for songbird eggs, and Sin. they collected the most buxom girls pulling them by their pubic curls ripping their bodices off with a demented Cowboy cough and as the girls fucked them madly and, not at all so very badly the cowboys did something strange, they broke into, "home on the Range" and the girls, wiggling their salubrious bum sang, "And let the Buffaloes come".

FOUND SCRAWLED ON THE RESTROOM WALL AT THE MUSEUM OF THE WEST, CODY, WYOMING.

FINI

[c] J. Davies, Sept, 2003

Tuesday, September 23, 2003 America Online: Megan4Mischief